EUA TO DESIGN UW-LA CROSSE RESIDENCE HALL

MILWAUKEE — Eppstein Uhen Architects (EUA) has been selected to supply programming and design services for new student housing at the University of Wisconsin-La Crosse.

The project will provide accommodations for approximately 500 residence hall beds, associated program and community spaces, and permanent office space for the UW-La Crosse Office of Residence Life. The new residence halls will include front desk and lobby areas, limited retail spaces, study and T.V. lounges, laundry facilities, and light recreation areas.

The project will also incorporate several sustainable design features with the goal of obtaining LEED® Silver Certification. The LEED (Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design) Green Building Rating System® is the U.S. Green Building Council's national standard for developing high-performance, sustainable buildings. LEED® promotes a whole-building approach to sustainability by recognizing performance in five key areas of human and environmental health: sustainable site development, water savings, energy efficiency, materials selection and indoor environmental quality.
